

EMPOWERING LEADERS

Annual Impact Report July 2025 to June 2026

Foreword

Over the past year I have worked from London, Jeddah, and Shenzhen, and I will shortly be in San Francisco. Four cities that could hardly be more different in language, capital, culture, and pace. What has struck me is not the difference. It is how quickly, in each one, someone has opened a door and unlocked new perspectives and opportunities.

That is not luck, and it is not a feature of any single city. It is what a network is for, and it is the principle OPEN was founded on nearly thirty years ago: that people who have made the journey should make it shorter for those coming behind them. OPEN now spans more than fifteen chapters across the UK, North America, the Middle East, and Pakistan. The value of that footprint is not its size. It is that a founder in Karachi, a researcher in London, and an operator in the Bay Area can find one another in a single conversation, and that the person on the other end will pick up.

I have come to hold that principle more firmly this year because of what we are seeing at ZNotes. Building over a decade and impacting over seven million learners in more than 190 countries, the way students approach learning is rapidly changing, and the industry is handing every student their own AI tutor and considering the problem solved. Yet the part of our platform that has grown fastest is the part where students learn together: explaining ideas to one another, being challenged, being wrong in front of a peer and working out why. That is not nostalgia for how learning used to happen. It is where the skills that will matter are formed. As machines take on more of the technical work, what will distinguish people is judgement, the ability to persuade, to collaborate, to read a room and build trust. None of it is learned alone.

The same is true of careers. Capability is becoming abundant, and as it does, the things that determine whether someone gets their chance are increasingly relational: the introduction made at the right moment, the honest assessment from someone who has failed at something similar, the person willing to lend their credibility to someone who has not yet earned their own. These move through communities, or they do not move at all. That is why the work of OPEN London CIC matters and will continue to do so in years to come.

Strategic Vision

As the London Chapter of OPEN Global, a premier, global, non-profit established in Boston in 1998 with a presence spanning over 15 chapters across the UK, North America, the Middle East, and Pakistan - OPEN London CIC stands at the forefront of fostering inclusive entrepreneurship and professional excellence.

We are a purely volunteer-based non-profit. Our vision is to build a truly global ecosystem that transcends borders, connecting innovators and bridging gaps to create a thriving landscape of opportunity. Our mission is to empower entrepreneurs and professionals at every career stage, providing a collaborative platform for networking, mentorship, and mutual support. We are committed to cultivating a dynamic environment where innovation flourishes, access is equitable, and success is achievable for all.

Strategic Focus and Core Pillars

Our approach focuses on aligning with the UK Government Initiatives and promoting leadership, professional development, and entrepreneurial growth within underrepresented communities, with a particular emphasis on the British Pakistani diaspora. We deliver this impact through a multi-faceted strategy anchored by the Transatlantic Initiative \(TAI\), inspired by the Mayor of London, deepening UK-US commercial ties, accelerating business growth, complementing the UK Government's AI Opportunities Action Plan.¹ As well as championing London's status as a world-class AI and technology hub.

Our work across all four pillars is strategically aligned with UK Government priorities and frameworks and translates our vision into tangible outcomes across the Transatlantic and the Commonwealth ecosystems.

Pillar 1: Transatlantic & Trade Acceleration

Our Transatlantic Initiative (TAI) aligns with the UK-US Economic Prosperity Deal (EPD), a landmark framework designed to reduce tariffs and remove barriers to trade and investment between the UK and the US.² Building on this transatlantic foundation, we leverage the UK-Pakistan Business Advisory Council³ - established following the inaugural UK-Pakistan Trade Dialogue in July 2025⁴ - to facilitate high-value trade and investment by engaging the 1.7 million British Pakistani diaspora.

This strategic alignment has already contributed to record-breaking results. Bilateral trade between the UK and Pakistan reached £5.5 billion in the four quarters leading to Q2 2025, representing a 14.0% year-on-year increase. Furthermore, UK exports to Pakistan grew by 24.5%, reaching £3.0 billion.⁵ Strengthening bilateral investment and knowledge flows across the UK, US, and the Commonwealth, while actively harnessing diaspora expertise and networks to unlock high-growth market opportunities and deepen commercial ties.

Pillar 2: Entrepreneurship & Professional Development

Our work in this pillar aligns with the UK Government's Backing Your Business: Our Plan for SMEs⁶, which delivers a comprehensive package of support for small and medium-sized businesses. We complement this national strategy by providing direct access to professional development opportunities that mirror the government's commitment to top-class skills training, as outlined in the Post-16 Education and Skills White Paper⁷. Through our curated events, we create the peer-learning and mentoring ecosystems that the new business.gov.uk single front door for SMEs seeks to foster.⁸ Curating high-impact forums, including panel discussions, masterclasses, and roundtables, that catalyze innovation, foster peer-to-peer learning, and equip professionals with the advanced skills and strategic acumen needed to compete in an evolving global economy.

Pillar 3: Artificial Intelligence (AI) & Frontier Technologies

Our AI Initiative complements the UK's ambitious AI Opportunities Action Plan⁹, which sets out 50 recommendations to grow the UK's AI sector—a sector that has attracted over £14 billion in fresh inward investment since July 2025, equivalent to £200 million per day. Through our partnership with the Commonwealth Artificial Intelligence Consortium (CAIC), we contribute to empowering the 1.5 billion young people under 30 across the Commonwealth through AI-driven innovation¹⁰.

The CAIC was established by the Commonwealth Secretariat, and it serves as a "minilateral" platform offering collective bargaining power and digital cooperation among Commonwealth nations navigating the complex geopolitics of AI¹¹. Accelerating innovation at the intersection of artificial intelligence and emerging technologies through strategic partnerships with the Commonwealth Artificial Intelligence Consortium \(CAIC\), OPEN Silicon Valley, Pakistan Software Export Board \(PSEB\), Ministry of IT and Telecoms Pakistan, Tech Destination Pakistan and Indus AI Week, amplifying our reach and influence across North America and the wider Commonwealth. This pillar positions OPEN London CIC at the forefront of a global technological revolution.

Pillar 4: Youth Empowerment, Women Empowerment & Thought Leadership

Crucially our work empowers underrepresented and underserved women of British Pakistani heritage by addressing the intersecting barriers including racism, religious and gender discrimination, and limited workplace flexibility as identified in The Greater London Authority's 2025 report, Bangladeshi and Pakistani Women in Good Work¹². It aligns with the Joint Communiqué between the UK Special Envoy for Women and Girls and the Pakistan Women's Parliamentary Caucus (November 2025)¹³, which committed both nations to advancing women's economic and business opportunities, promoting equal participation in decision-making, and eradicating all forms of discrimination against women and girls.

Nurturing the next generation of changemakers and women through our partnership with the Commonwealth Businesswomen's Network \(CBWN\), dedicated online events, mentorship initiatives and a dynamic podcast series that amplifies the voices of youth, women, entrepreneurs, creative artists, business leaders, public-sector visionaries, Responsible AI & Frontier Tech Experts (via AI Edition) and Commonwealth thought leaders, fostering intergenerational dialogue and purposeful leadership.

A Pivotal Moment for Global Engagement

We operate at a defining economic juncture. According to the Department for Business and Trade's Trade and Investment Factsheet (October 2025)¹⁴, total UK–Pakistan trade in goods and services reached £5.5 billion in the four quarters to the end of Q2 2025, a year-on-year increase of 14.0%. UK exports to Pakistan reached £3.0 billion - a 24.5% increase. Under the Developing Countries Trading Scheme (DCTS), 92% of Pakistani goods benefit from tariff free access to the UK. With over 180 million Pakistanis under the age of 30 (representing 65% of the country's population of 242 million), this vast demographic dividend, combined with the preferential market access afforded by DCTS, opens a remarkable gateway for deepening bilateral commercial and investment partnerships. Amid global economic volatility, shifting US tariff regimes, climate vulnerabilities, and evolving regional dynamics, this growth trajectory offers OPEN London CIC a uniquely strategic moment to act as a catalyst and bridge between these thriving ecosystems. We invite our partners, members, and stakeholders to join us in this pivotal endeavour.

Executive Summary

Our most significant achievement this year was a roundtable discussion at the Pakistan High Commission, facilitated by OPEN London CIC, which directly informed a report with key findings and recommendations to the Government of Pakistan on leveraging Artificial Intelligence (AI) for healthcare delivery. Suggested improvements are currently being implemented by NADRA, demonstrating tangible policy influence.

Additionally, our roundtable discussion hosted in partnership with the Commonwealth and Commonwealth Businesswomen's Network (CBWN), led by Zahra Shah at the Commonwealth Secretariat, Marlborough House on "Why Bridging the AI Divide is a Commonwealth Imperative?" resulted in a report with key findings and recommendations to the Commonwealth Secretariat. Insights from this report were included in the presentation delivered by Zahra on "The Governance of Agentic AI in the Commonwealth" at the Singapore - Commonwealth Third Country Training Programme on Digital Governance and AI Adoption for Public Service.

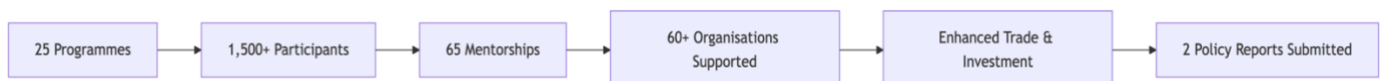

To strengthen the £5.5 billion UK-Pakistan trade corridor, OPEN London CIC hosted an Exclusive Breakfast Session and fireside chat at Visionet UK, featuring senior leaders from enterprises and entrepreneurs. Additionally, we partnered with Pakistan Software Export Board (PSEB) and Ministry of IT and Telecoms Pakistan on B2B and Fintech roundtables during London Tech Week, successfully facilitating direct, high-level commercial partnerships between UK and Pakistani enterprises.

This inaugural year has been one of substantial delivery. We have built a robust foundation for sustained growth across four strategic pillars, establishing OPEN London CIC as a credible bridge between the UK, North America, and Pakistan.
